Smart Services with professional expertise and know-how

As an international solution supplier for Smart Services, we provide full-service solutions and business process management with professional expertise and know-how.

The main source of our expertise and the specific professional knowledge is to be found in our networks, in which over 600 auditors, inspectors, surveyors, coaches and further experts are linked together. With our own EXCON network management and coaching, we work constantly to improve quality, optimize processes and networking, and increase the expertise of our employees and partners in the field. Only in this way are we able to maintain and continuously improve our high standard. In addition, we support our networks and external service providers with technology and software platforms which we develop in-house at EXCON.

With over 25 years' experience and expertise in the development of service packages, we are now in a position to implement new solutions and technology-based services in the very short term.

The foundation on which we build here is supplied by our internal resources, with a total of 80 specialized and highly professional employees who use their methodical knowledge, professional know-how and familiarity with the industry concerned every day to ensure that our services become even better. In this way, we also support our clients in optimizing their business processes and achieving their strategic and operational targets, and also in overcoming new problems and challenges.

We also contribute our wide range of expertise to both small and large consultancy and cooperation projects covering different sectors of industry. Innovations and new challenges are part of our day-to-day business. If you have a problem or a need for particular services, please contact us. We may be able to offer you a solution, even if you have not already found what you require in our service portfolio.
